Tips for Volunteers

Checklist

Find out about:

- the building layout and parking facilities
- discipline and classroom policies
- what is expected of you as a volunteer
- what to do if you are absent
- how to work with a substitute teacher
- drills (fire, tornado and lockdown) and safety rules

Emergencies

In case of emergency, or when you have concerns for student safety, please report immediately to a school official. If you are in the building during a drill, please participate and set a good example for the students.

In a Tornado (or drill):

- Move away from windows and glass doorways.
- Go to the innermost part of the building on the lowest possible floor.
- Do not use elevators because the power may fail, leaving you trapped.
- Protect your head and make yourself as small a target as possible by crouching down.

In a Fire (or drill):

- In an orderly fashion, exit the building.
- Familiarize yourself with the layout of the building. Escape routes are posted throughout buildings in areas easily accessible to everyone.
- If you are the last person to exit a classroom or office, close the door.
- After exiting, meet in designated areas to be accounted for. Under no circumstances should you reenter the building!
- To prevent personal endangerment and obstruction of emergency responders and equipment, do not leave the designated areas until cleared to do so by an administrator.

If you need help

If you need more instructions in order to perform a task, just ask. Establish a method of communication with the teacher/staff member, either written or verbal. If you want to change your assignment, talk with the teacher or volunteer coordinator.

Enjoy working with the students

Be yourself! Accept students in terms of their background, values, manner and vocabulary as theirs may be different from yours. By giving of yourself, by sharing time, by caring... you are making a difference!

Thanks!

Always remember that you are appreciated! Sometimes the staff members get caught up in the tasks of the day and may forget to say "Thanks!" We value the time you give to our children and schools.

*Tell me and I'll forget; show me and I may remember; involve me and I'll understand.

Becoming a School Volunteer

Begin by choosing the age group that most interests you:

- 4 - 5 year old children (Early Childhood Learning Center)
- 5 - 10 year old children (Elementary School)
- 11 - 13 year old adolescents (Middle School)
- 14 - 17 year old teenagers (High School)

Next, consider the type of activities and amount of time you wish to contribute.

- Would you prefer to work directly with students or as a clerical assistant?
- What experiences/skills can you offer?
- What hours and days do you prefer?
- How much time can you commit to a volunteer job?
- What are you looking for in your volunteer experience?
- Is there a special talent that you can share with the students? For example, speak a foreign language or play a musical instrument?

Then contact the school nearest you. Each of our 30 schools has a volunteer coordinator who will gladly meet with you to answer any questions, discuss specific school needs and procedures, describe volunteer opportunities, and review the application form. This interview will help match your talents and interests to a volunteer job that you will enjoy and will enable the school to best utilize your skills.

A teaching certificate is not required to be a Beaufort County School District Volunteer, but these traits are:

- A genuine interest in helping students
- A commitment to your volunteer activity
- A cooperative attitude with faculty and staff
- Positive attitude
- Confidentiality
- Flexibility
- Regular attendance
- Good health
- Training, as recommended for your volunteer placement

Volunteer Screening

All volunteers, including mentors and parents, will need to fully complete the brief volunteer application prior to volunteering. This application includes all of the information needed to complete the background check. Please be truthful on the application; a minor infraction in your past will not prevent you from volunteering in our schools. The application can be found on our website at beaufortschools.net. The start screen looks like this:

It is good for one year.

You must wear the volunteer ID badge at the school site at all times. You will also need to bring a government issued photo ID when you enter the school to verify your identity.

Sexual Harassment of Students

Sexual harassment of students by employees, other students, or third parties is prohibited. All employees, students, and third parties associated with schools must avoid any action or conduct which could be viewed as sexual harassment. The superintendent directs district and school employees to take prompt, appropriate, and responsive action to end sexual harassment and to prevent its reoccurrence. Teachers and school administrators are expected to use judgment and common sense, which are important elements of a proper response to a particular allegation of sexual harassment of a student or inappropriate conduct of a sexual nature directed towards a student.

Any student who feels he or she has been subjected to sexual harassment, or the parent of a student who feels his or her child has been subjected to sexual harassment, is encouraged to file a complaint with the school principal or title IX coordinator. All allegations will be investigated promptly, thoroughly, and impartially to determine what occurred. In the interim, and at the conclusion of the investigation, appropriate steps will be taken to effectively address the situation.

Students who file a complaint of sexual harassment will not be subject to retaliation or reprisal in any form. Any employee or student who is found to have engaged in sexual harassment or inappropriate conduct of a sexual nature will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination in the case of an employee, or expulsion in the case of a student, and all other appropriate steps will be taken to correct or rectify the situation.

TITLE IX “ No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance. ”

What are Issues of Confidentiality?

Essentially everything that you hear or see in a school setting is of a confidential nature. That means that when you are watching children interact with each other, with their parents, and with staff you have observed something confidential. What that means is that the children and families that we serve are owed respect and privacy. Some students may speak, learn, or act in a manner that appears different or is different from your expectations of your own child or of others. As such, you may wonder what, why and how?

Wondering is fine, however, commenting on it, discussing it, sharing it with others is a breach of confidentiality and it is against the law. All individuals who work in a school setting are sworn to confidentiality – maintaining what they see and know about another private and to themselves. That does not mean that an issue of concern should not be shared with administration or a teacher, but beyond that it should never be shared.

Here are some examples:

- As a volunteer you note that a child in the first grade sucks her thumb and whines constantly to the teacher and her peers. Sharing this information with your neighbor, including the child's name and class, would be a breach of confidentiality.
- When assisting with grading papers, you note that Bobby Person is failing this subject and you share this information with his mother. It is the teacher's responsibility to share this information with his mom, not yours.
- When in Wal-Mart another parent who knows you are volunteering in Mrs. Star's class, asks you if she is really a good teacher or not. Sharing anything about Mrs. Star would be a breach of confidentiality. What you could do is smile politely and invite the parent to come see all of the great things the kids are doing, or say, "I enjoy being in the class with the children," and leave Mrs. Star out of it.
- A parent who knows you volunteer at the school wants to know about the behavior of a child who has been a terror in the neighborhood. To tell her that you have seen the child act out negatively at school, too, would be a breach of confidentiality. You can either say, "Gosh, I really can't say," or "You know working at the school allows me to see children in a completely different environment so I am not sure I could really comment on that."
- You were working in the classroom when the Special Education teacher comes to speak to your cooperating teacher. You overhear her say that one of the children in the room is now going to qualify to receive special education services. Sharing this information in any form with anybody would be totally inappropriate and also a breach of confidentiality.

So what do you do if you see something that concerns you about a student or a staff member? Share it immediately with a school administrator – and then keep it confidential.
